New Zealand Transport Agency Pathways to better transport

Tim Hughes

New Zealand Transport Agency

Integration:

- More joined up planning of land use and transport.
- Development that minimise future transport demands e.g. by providing a variety of facilities within short distances.
- Providing for a wider choice of transport modes – more use of active modes.
- Safer travel for all

New Zealand Transport Agency

Funding:

- Making the process easier and more predictable.
- More strategic analysis to get the optimum mix of projects identified early.
- Streamlined funding of integrated packages of projects that work together. e.g a strategic walking and cycling plan.
- Developing different approaches to achieve more value for money.
- Working with partners for better transport solutions.
