Abstract Remit	An updated profile of walking and cycling activity in New Zealand is currently being developed by the Ministry of Transport. Designed primarily for decision-makers, the profile provides a snapshot of walking and cycling activity, analyses trends, identifies current barriers, and provides some "how to" resources. The profile also highlights the range of social, economic and environmental benefits to be gained from increasing walking and cycling, illustrated with successful case studies from New Zealand and overseas.
Author Profile	Dr Iain McAuley is a Senior Policy Adviser at the Ministry of Transport, working primarily on walking and cycling and travel demand management. Iain has an academic background in Geography and Planning, and more recently worked for the former Parliamentary Commissioner for the Environment.
